Hippity, Hop...Plop!

CHILDREN'S COMEDY. Whoever heard of a rabbit that can't hop? Whenever Hippity, a young bunny, tries to hop, she goes plop and falls down! Tired of her siblings teasing her, Hippity ventures into the forest to find someone to teach her how to hop. In the forest, Hippity encounters an owl that flies, a duck that waddles, and a frog that leaps. But it seems no one can help Hippity learn to hop until a hungry brown bear happens upon her path and shows her how to hop...away, that is! Adorable characters abound in this delightful play for young audiences.

Performance Time: Approximately 45-60 minutes.

Characters

(1 M, 4 F, 7 flexible, opt. extras)

Note: For flexible roles, change the script accordingly.

Production Notes

Hopping about the stage for the entire play would be tiring for the actors portraying rabbits and would slow down the action. Therefore, a modified hop is preferable—one that gives the impression of hopping and yet allows more freedom of movement. Perhaps a half-hop and half-walk would suffice. Before she learns to hop, Hippity walks with quick baby steps.

Hippity falls many times in the play. To prevent bruises or injury, the actor should develop a fall that is slower than a real fall and is completely under her control. She might also wear kneepads under her costume.

Scene 1

(AT RISE: In front of a rabbit burrow UCS or SL. Trees surround the area. A hopscotch form is drawn on canvas or a tarp and lies on the stage floor at CS. A soccer ball and a stone lie nearby. Gibbery, a rabbit who is wearing a teen skirt, and Flippity, a rabbit wearing short pants, enter hop-skipping from their burrow UCS, laughing and having a good time. Flippity does a flip.)

FLIPPITY: Wheee!

GIBBERY: Flippity, why are you always turning flips like that?

FLIPPITY: Because flipping is fun. And that's why you call me "Flippity." (Does another flip.) Why don't you try it?

GIBBERY: I could if I wanted to. But I don't want to. Why should I do it if I don't want to do it?

FLIPPITY: And why are you always gibber-gabbering? You could just say no.

GIBBERY: Can I help it if I like to talk? I like to talk. That's why you call me "Gibbery." Is that so bad?

HIPPITY: (From inside the burrow.) Flippity, Gibbery, where are you?

GIBBERY: Out here, Hippity. Come on out.

FLIPPITY: Yeah. Do a flip. A big flip.

(Hippity, a rabbit wearing a frilly child's skirt and a big colorful bow on her head, enters from the burrow.)

HIPPITY: Okaaaay. (Flippity and Gibbery watch as Hippity enters and tries to do a flip but lands flat onto the ground. Looks up.) Uh-oh.
